LAST VICTORY OVER BROOKLYN CLEAN-CUT

Obvious That Better Team
Won Championship; Dodgers'
Solitary Run in Final Meeting Unearned.

By Morning Journal Special, Leased Wire.
Boston, Oct. 12.—The Boston Americans won the championship of the baseball universe here this afternoon when they defeated the Brooklyn Nationals, 4 to 1, in the fifth and final game of the world's series of 1916. The greatest gathering in the history of the American national sport witnessed the victory, 42,620 fans departing after the contest, convinced that the Red Sox were the baseball machine par excellence of recent years.

As a result of the four-games-to-one contest over Brooklyn, Boston is tonight celebrating its fifth victory in world's series since 1903, and there is added joy in the fact that never in its history has a Boston team been forced to bow to the superior prowess of a rival in such a contest.

The victory over Brooklyn today was so clean-cut and decisive that there was left no ground for argument. That the better team won the championship was obvious. Before the speed and curves of Ernest Shore, the Red Sox were well-nigh invincible, while Jeff Pfeffer, the last hope of Brooklyn, proved unequal to the task of holding Boston in check.

Although the nationals were first to score, their advantage was short-lived, and once the Bostonians unleashed their heavy hitting artillery, any doubt regarding the outcome of the game was dissipated, so closely did Shore hold the Brooklyn clan in the mystery of his deceptive delivery.

The invaders from Greater New York were able to score only three hits for a similar total of bases and the solitary run scored was unearned. It was the result of a pass, a sacrifice, and an out and a passed ball. Boston, on the other hand, got ten bases on seven hits and two of its four runs were earned.

UNS IN OVERCOATS

Although the contest was played before a record throng of fans, there was only a moderate amount of enthusiasm, the chilling weather and the ease with which Boston disposed of its opponents dulling the edge of such outbursts as sprang from grandstands and bleachers at the more thrilling points of the game. The day was bitter cold, with a piercing wind from the east. The spectators, who paid $4.42 to witness the triumph of the American league champions, came prepared for the November-like weather. Overcoats, fur wraps and heavy gloves were much in evidence.

Aside from Shore's clever catch under hurrying and a sensational running shoe-top catch by Wheat on the fifth, and its mate by Lewis in the eighth, when he robbed Merkle, batting for Pfeffer, of an apparently sure double, the game was devoid of feature plays.

Immediately after Scott had clinched the championship by gobbling Mowrey's short fly for the final out of the game, the spectators rushed upon the field and fell in behind the Royal Roosters and their band, for a parade. On the first circuit of the diamond, they captured President J. J. Lamin of the Boston club, and then crossed the field after President C. H. Elliott of Brooklyn. Amid the cheers of the fans, the rival club executives joined arms and led the march while thousands in the stands stayed to watch the celebration.

CARRIGAN RETIRES

The players, however, did not wait to take part in the impromptu ceremonies. Both teams rushed for their dressing rooms and there were few if any congratulations. Manager Robinson did not meet Manager Carrigan in his dash across the field, and there was no public greeting or handshake between the pair. Many of the fans, however, shook hands with the Boston players and with Manager Carrigan, who said again that he had retired from professional baseball with today's game.

As was the case in yesterday's game, Brooklyn was the first to score. Its only and unearned tally came in the second session, when Shore issued his only pass of the day, Cutshaw to first.

Can the Leopard Change Its Spots?

"The Albuquerque Morning Journal, which has been converted from support of the republican national and state tickets to support of the democratic national and state tickets—overnight, by those mysterious influences which work so strangely in the organism of the Journal, asserts that all newspapers printing advertisements of the republican party are venal."

The foregoing extract from an advertisement put out by the republican state committee is, of course, a lie—or to be more exact, it is a series of lies. Whoever was responsible for its publication knew that there was not one word of truth in the statement from beginning to end—knew that he, or they, were lying. The lie was deliberate and calculated—without any extenuating circumstance connected with it.

It would be quite feasible to put the men responsible for this contemptible lie behind prison bars for criminal libel. But what would be the use? Why dignify creatures of that caliber by taking the trouble to bring them before a court of justice? Their lie has hurt no one except themselves for every intelligent man and woman in New Mexico conversant with the circumstances knows it to be the infamous lie that it is.

Besides, the libel law has, in this campaign, gotten to be the cheap resort of the cheap politician who seeks to use it for the purpose of muzzling independent newspapers.

Only by preventing a public exposure of their past records can the old gang hope to get back into power. In pursuance of this policy they have arranged to file suits against every newspaper that dares tell the truth about them, hoping to frighten weak-kneed editors into silence regarding the official records they have made.

It is the same old leopard that is asking the support of the voters of New Mexico. He can not change his spots. Nor can he prevent an unmuzzled press from telling the truth about him. His final doom will come on the seventh day of November.

GRAVE ASPECT OF U-BOAT RAID IS NOW CONSIDERED

Should There Be Serious Interference With American Commerce United States Would Take Action.

By Morning Journal Special, Leased Wire.
Washington, Oct. 12.—Investigation of Germany's submarine operations off Nantucket apparently has eased the mind of officials here, but it was said authoritatively tonight that should the situation develop into a serious interference with American commerce, the United States would take action.

Such considerations as the displacement of shipping along the Atlantic seaboard, the great increase in marine insurance rates, and the possibility of serious freight congestion and railroad embargoes, have been foremost in the minds of officials, it was indicated, and will determine largely the government's policy if an extensive submarine campaign is attributed to this side of the Atlantic.

One high official expressed the view that the unprecedented situation involves questions which can be considered only in an extra legal light.

OFFICIALS APPREHENSIVE

The sinking of the Dutch steamer Bloemendijk, flying a neutral flag and plying between two neutral ports, is understood to be one of the incidents that has led officials to view with apprehension the future of submarine operations off American shores. What measures Germany may contemplate against neutral trade out of American ports is a matter of lively speculation. Regarding the Bloemendijk case, specifically, however, the state department is understood to feel that this government has no cause for complaint.

BRITISH STEAMSHIP BROUGHT BACK TO PORT

By Morning Journal Special, Leased Wire.
New York, Oct. 12.—The British steamship, city of Madras was overhauled off Ambrose channel lightship tonight by the United States torpedo boat destroyer Sterrett and brought back to Chilton, Staten Island, after it had ignored the war vessel's signal to stop when it left quarantine.

The City of Madras, a vessel of 3,045 tons, cleared from this port Monday for Singapore, Manila and Hongkong, but anchored above quarantine, apparently fearful of a submarine attack if she ventured out to sea.

As the ship passed quarantine to-night on her way out she was signalled by the Sterrett to stop, but instead raced down the harbor. She was overtaken abreast the Ambrose channel lightship.

New York navy yard officers tonight disclaimed all knowledge of the Sterrett's action.

CENTRAL POWERS GAIN ON TRANSYLVANIA FRONT

Second Rumanian Army Is Being Driven Back to Frontier, According to Kaiser's Official Statement.

By Morning Journal Special, Leased Wire.
Berlin, Oct. 12 (via London).—Following is today's official statement: "On both sides of the Somme the battle continued. On the whole front between the Ancre and the Somme the artillery firing was unusually intense. British infantry attacks northeast of Thiepval and from the Le Sars-Guercourt line failed for the most part before our curtain of fire. "Toward evening strong attacks were delivered from the Maroiville-Bouchavesnes front. The enemy advanced six times against the positions held by the Sixty-eighth infantry regiment and the Seventy-sixth reserve infantry regiment near Sailly. All of his efforts were fruitless. Our positions were maintained. "South of the Somme the battle between Genemont and Chaulnes continued. Repeated French attacks were repulsed. The hotly contested sugar refinery at Genemont is in our possession. In the village of Ablancourt bitter house to house fighting developed and still continues. "The statement on the Transylvania front follows: "In the Maros valley the enemy was unable to resist an onrushing attack. Farther north also he is beginning to retreat. He is being pursued on the whole eastern Transylvanian front. "The second Rumanian army has been driven back to the frontier positions. In mountain battles during the last two days we have captured eighteen officers, 639 men, one 4-inch cannon, five machine guns, much ammunition and many rifles. Enemy advances on both sides of Vulcan pass were repulsed."

VENEZUELOS TO MARCH AGAINST BULGARIANS

By Morning Journal Special, Leased Wire.
Washington, Oct. 12.—The Exchange Telegraph company's Athens correspondent quotes former Premier Venizelos as declaring in a speech at Saloniki that he had placed himself at the head of a movement which was bound to succeed.

"The islands have all adhered to the movement and are prepared to accept the mobilization which will be declared shortly," said M. Venizelos. "The constitution must be reversed, even if we have to march against Athens and old Greece. We intend to march against Ferdinand and his treacherous troops."

DISCREDITED SINKING OF KINGSTON

Washington, Oct. 12.—Rear Admiral Gleaves, commanding the Atlantic fleet, reported today his personal belief that no steamer Kingston of Kingston was sunk by the German submarine during its operations off Nantucket lightship. After several days of search the destroyer force has found no evidence that a ship of that name was in the vicinity, and if Admiral Gleaves' theory is correct only five ships were sunk. The admiral believes the "Kingston" was understood to be the "Kingston."

SUBMARINE QUESTION MUST NOT BE DISCUSSED

Berlin, Oct. 11 (via London, Oct. 12).—The most notable incident at the opening of the day's reichstag session was supplied by Maj. ## KAISER'S FLEET MOST GLORIOUSLY EFFICIENT

Socialist Member of Reichstag Says Peace Will Be Made Without Territorial Loss to Any Nation.

By Morning Journal Special, Leased Wire.
Berlin, Oct. 12 (via London).—In his speech at the opening of yesterday's reichstag session, Maj. Ernest Bassermann, leader of the national liberals, said: "Our enemies tell us they have imposed upon us an order of warfare that has forced us into the defensive, when at this very time we are rejoicing over the manner in which the German spirit of offense is winning success in the war against the Rumanians in Transylvania, in Dobruja and on the Danube. We trust in the strength of our army commanded by Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General von Ludendorff. We proudly point to the success of our navy in its victory in the Skagerrak under the glorious leadership of Admiral Hipper and Scheer. In these achievements of our navy, in the success of our sailors, we recognize the spirit of the master of the German navy, Grand Admiral von Tirpitz. "Expecting Final Victory. "Major Bassermann expressed his confidence that the firm will of the German nation would bring the war to a victorious end and 'subdue the hostile spirit of the British government and the British people.' "The speaker pleaded for the abolition of the censorship. He said the committee had received the impression that the military situation everywhere was satisfactory and hopeful. "Herr Naumann, the radical leader, alluded to the causes of the war, insisting that the only means of averting resort to arms would have been direct communication between Vienna and St. Petersburg, which was rendered impossible by the continuation of the Russian mobilization. Great Britain had been able to prevent this, as she recognized the dangers underlying this mobilization, as was shown by the warnings of Ambassador Buchanan to Foreign Minister Sonnoff. She ought to have allowed the examination furnished by the German chancellor, declared the speaker, when on July 26, 1914, he declared to Vienna: 'We refuse to let ourselves be drawn into a world war because our allies disregard our suggestions.' Great Britain had not only left the moving world unspoken, added Herr Naumann, but had encouraged Russia by assuring her of British help under all circumstances. "Socialist Is Loyal. "Philip Scheidemann, the socialist leader, pointed out the vitality of the German nation as shown in the present war, criticized the censorship and condemned the measures taken by the authorities for the distribution of the peace problem and the objects of the war. "Changes for peace today are poor," Herr Scheidemann declared. "Since Briand and Lloyd George preached war until the bitter end, the chancellor is unable to talk of peace. But we are free to do so. The nations want peace. If the contrary be said in any country, then it is absolutely untrue. "Basis for Coming Peace. "The French nation is kept ignorant by general prohibition of the fact that it could see its country as well as Belgium still free today of German troops without shedding one more drop of blood and without losing one more square foot of soil. What do these nations still fight for? That the French shall stay in France. That the Belgians shall stay in Belgium. That the Germans shall stay in Germany. This is the main basis upon which the coming peace will be constructed. "Trusts returns in all countries. The prices in English markets speak a clear language. Bread in England is dearer than it is with us. More than one million children in England are underfed so greatly that they are unable to follow instructions in the schools. From France the most pitiful complaints are heard. Italy suffers from famine already. Russia had better not be mentioned. "The concluding speech was made by the socialist member, Herr David.

Editor of 'The Masses' Tells Why He Will Cast His Vote for Woodrow Wilson; El- lery Sedgwick Converted.

By Morning Journal Special, Leased Wire.
New York, Oct. 12.—The socialist have usually been anchored by party ethics to their own candidate, but are now leaning strongly to President Wilson. A great many prominent socialists will either vote directly for the president or will renounce their party allegiance to do so. "Max Eastman, one of their most widely known leaders, editor of 'The Masses,' favors so strongly the reelection of President Wilson that today he gave the Woodrow Wilson Independent league the following statement: "Why He Is for Wilson. "I would rather see Woodrow Wilson elected than Charles E. Hughes, because Wilson, aggressively believes not only in keeping out of war but in organizing the nations of the world to prevent war. His official endorsement of the propaganda for international federation in the interest of peace is the most important step that any president of the United States has taken towards civilizing the world since Lincoln. "His announcement that the best judgment of mankind accepts the principle of the eight-hour day is another proof that he has vision and sympathy with human progress. "Hughes has given no such proof. He has given proof to the contrary by his petty and indelicate meddling. "Another Convert. "Elery Sedgwick, editor of the Atlantic Monthly and a former follower of Governor Hughes, made this statement today in answering publicly the question, 'Why are you for Wilson?' "Mr. Wilson's foreign policy of peace and of peace gives hope for the new world. Mr. Hughes' pale reflection of Colonel Roosevelt's domineering reverts to the outdoor code of the old. Despite the talk of national honor this has an evil significance. I sincerely believe that Mr. Hughes' election entails inevitable war with the Mexican people. "At home Mr. Wilson has kept every promise. Mr. Hughes will not even make promises to keep. "Slightly but sedulously Mr. Hughes saddles the German-American vote. The support behind him is composed of violent opposites. Such a campaign elicits neither my sympathy nor respect."

NAVY PATROL PLANNED IF RAIDS CONTINUE

By Morning Journal Special, Leased Wire.
Washington, Oct. 12 (via London).—Immediate steps are in contemplation for the actual establishment of a naval neutrality patrol along the Atlantic coast as a result of the German raid, the navy department has completed a definite plan to be put into operation if the campaign continues. "The entire destroyer force, active and reserve, assisted by light cruisers, army tug and other auxiliary craft will be employed to protect American territorial waters and also to prevent the establishment of secret bases ashore or communication between shore radio stations and belligerent craft. Asserts That "New Freedom"
Means "New Slavery," as
It Has Been Put Into Opera-

By Morning Journal Special, Leased Wire.
Louisville, Ky., Oct. 12.—Charles E. Hughes went through the mountains of Kentucky today, a new campaign field for presidential nominees, outlining his views on the maintenance of American rights and ended his day's tour of the state with a meeting here tonight, in which he declared that the "new freedom" advocated by President Wilson four years ago had been transmuted, in one respect, to the "new slavery." "Mr. Hughes spoke in six towns today to audiences that had come, for the most part, for miles to hear him. They came down from the mountains, men and women, on foot, on horseback, and on muleback. Some of the muleback riders, some had none, and many of the women that came to hear him came wearing their faded sunbonnets, and smoked their clay pipes as he talked. At Pikeville, first stop of the day, hundreds had journeyed since sun-up. A special train from Marrowbone, crowded to capacity, swelled the crowd. "Speaks to Mountaineers. "Several stops, the nominee's special train was backed down a spur track and he spoke to audiences in open fields. They sat on their horses and mules and in their farm wagons to listen. Some brought their families along and there were several hundred children, including babies in their mothers' arms, in each of these crowds. "In his speech in Phoenix Hill hall here tonight, Mr. Hughes devoted much of his attention to the protective tariff and to what he termed the "new slavery."
